

Contributors

ANDREW BAKER is Senior Lecturer in political economy at Queen's University Belfast and researches in the field of international political economy, focusing in particular on the politics of global financial governance. He is the author of Group of seven: finance ministries, central banks and global financial governance (2006) and co-author (with David Hudson and Richard Woodward) of Governing financial globalization: international political economy and multi-level governance (2005). He is also one of the current editors of the British Journal of Politics and International Relations.

GREGORY T. CHIN is an Assistant Professor at York University, Canada, where he teaches global politics, Chinese politics and East Asian political economy. He is a Senior Fellow of the Centre for International Governance Innovation (CIGI), and a member of the editorial board of the China and International Organization Books Series, jointly published by Shanghai People's Press and Shanghai International Studies University. He served as a diplomat in the Canadian Embassy in China, and was responsible for Canadian foreign aid to China and North Korea. He is the author of China's automotive modernization: the party-state and multinational corporations (2010). He has also published recently in the Journal of International Affairs, China Security, International Journal, Politikon, Foreign Policy, Far Eastern Economic Review, and has articles forthcoming in The China Quarterly and the Review of International Political Economy.

ANDREW F. COOPER is Associate Director and Distinguished Fellow at The Centre for International Governance Innovation (CIGI) and Professor in the Department of Political Science at the University of Waterloo. In 2009 he was the Canada-US Fulbright Research Chair in Public Diplomacy at the Annenberg School of Communications, University of Southern California. His recent books include Celebrity diplomacy (2008); Emerging powers in global governance: lessons from the Heiligendamm Process (co-edited with Agata Antkiewicz, 2008); Which way Latin America? Hemispheric politics meets globalization (co-edited with Jorge Heine, 2009); The diplomacies of small states: between vulnerability and resilience (co-edited with Timothy Shaw, 2009); and Rising states, rising institutions: the challenge of global governance (co-edited with Alan Alexandroff, 2010).

PAOLO GUERRIERI is Professor of Economics at the University of Rome, La Sapienza and Visiting Professor at the College of Europe, Bruges and the University of San Diego, California. He is Vice President of the Institute of International Affairs, Rome, and a consultant for several international organizations and institutions, including the World Bank, the European Commission, the Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development and the Economic Commission for Latin America and the Caribbean. He has written extensively on the topics of international trade and trade policy, technological change, European economic integration and international political economy. His publications include Cultural diversity and international economic integration: the global governance of the audio-visual sector (co-edited with P. Lelio Iapadre and Georg Koopmann, 2005) and The economic challenge for Europe: adapting to innovation based growth (co-edited with Jan Fagerberg and Bart Verspagen, 2000).

Contributors

ERIC HELLEINER is CIGI Chair in International Political Economy at the Balsillie School of International Affairs and Professor of Political Science at the University of Waterloo. His most recent books include Global finance in crisis: the politics of international regulatory change (co-edited with Stefano Pagliari and Hubert Zimmermann, 2010); The future of the dollar (co-edited with Jonathan Kirshner, 2009); and Towards North American Monetary Union? (2006). He is also co-editor (with Jonathan Kirshner) of the book series Cornell Studies in Money.

AMRITA NARLIKAR is University Senior Lecturer at the University of Cambridge and Official Fellow of Darwin College, Cambridge. Her numerous writings on trade, rising powers, and multilateral negotiations include her recent single-authored book New powers: how to become one and how to manage them (2010), and an edited book Deadlocks in multilateral negotiations: causes and solutions (2010). Previous books include The World Trade Organization: a very short introduction (2005) and International trade and developing countries: bargaining coalitions in the GATT and WTO (2003).

ANTHONY PAYNE is Professor of Politics and Pro-Vice-Chancellor for the Social Sciences at the University of Sheffield. He is the author of The global politics of unequal development (2005) and the editor of Key debates in new political economy (2005). His latest book (co-authored with Nicola Phillips), is entitled Development (2010). He was also the founding Managing Editor of the journal New Political Economy.

AVINASH PERSAUD is Emeritus Professor of Gresham College, senior Fellow of CaPRI, and visiting fellow of the Centre for Financial Policy and Analysis, University of Cambridge. He is a Governor of the London School of Economics and a member of the council of the Royal Economics Society. He is the 2010 President of the British Academy, Section F (Economics). He is chair of the regulatory committee of the UN High Level Task Force on the financial crisis, a member of the Pew Congressional Task Force, Washington DC, Non-Executive Director of the UK Treasury's Audit Committee and an external member of the FSA's Policy Board. He is also a non-executive director and non-executive chairman of a handful of financial institutions. He was previously a senior executive at investment banks J. P. Morgan, UBS, State Street and the alternative asset managers,

Contributors

GAM. He was a top-ranked analyst for ten years and was elected Director of the Global Association of Risk Professionals.

PAOLA SUBACCHI is Research Director, International Economics at Chatham House. She is a regular media commentator with the BBC, CNN, Bloomberg, CNBC, Newsweek, the Financial Times, the Wall Street Journal and the International Herald Tribune. Her recent publications include: 'Beyond the dollar: rethinking the International Monetary System' (Chatham House Report, 2010); 'From London to L'Aquila: building a bridge between the G20 and the G8' (IE/CIGI Briefing Paper, 2009); 'New ideas for the London summit: recommendations to the G20 leaders' (Chatham House and Atlantic Council Report, 2009); The Gulf region: a new hub of global financial power (co-edited with John Nugée, 2008); 'From Bretton Woods onwards: the birth and rebirth of the world's hegemon' (Cambridge Review of International Affairs, 2008); 'A one-and-a-half currency system' (co-authored with Benjamin J. Cohen, The Journal of International Affairs, 2008); and 'New power centres and new power brokers: are they shaping a new economic order?' (International Affairs, 2008).